Company Chairman Answers Complaint Of Shareholders

SUBMITS REPORT

Earnings Less Than Those Of Municipal Electricity Department

A statement tending to show that "there is not enough left out of the income earned on the present scale of charges of the Shanghai Mutual Telephone Company to give shareholders a reasonably adequate return on their investment" instead of the "service being starved to the point of inefficiency to allow of big returns to shareholders" has just been issued by Mr. Cecil Holliday, as chairman of the board of directors of the company.

The statement follows allegations made at the annual general meeting of the company to the effect that the original purposes of the company as a mutual organisation have been lost sight of in the race for big earnings.

"The capital outlay of the company as at March 31, 1921, was Tls. 2,478,100.40," says the statement, "and the return on that capital computed in exactly the same way as the electricity department of the S.M.C. computes its return, was 9.22 percent against 10.34 percent of the electricity department. Similarly the capital outlay of the company as at March 31, 1922, was Tls. 3,226,110.02 and the return on it 8.16 percent against 10.56 percent of the electricity department.

"The electricity department is an undertaking run by the Community for the Community and so if the return on Capital it earns is required to keep it in a satisfactory position it is obvious that the much smaller return on Capital earned by the company cannot be by any stretch of imagination called excessive. To put it in another way, the amount of shareholders' money, represented by each share immediately after the appropriation voted on May 30 was paid, is Tls. 88.28 per share, so that a dividend of Tls. 6 per share only represents a return of 6.80 percent per share, or less than is obtained from this year's issue of Municipal Debentures."

There follows the certificate of Messrs. Lowe, Bingham and Matthews, who prepared the report for the company.

SUN HAN-CHANG TO HEAD CHAMBER OF COMMERCE HERE

Mr. Fan, Arbitration Board Chief, Is Vice-Chairman Of Important Body

Two Chinese business men of shifting character were elected at the initial meeting of the directors of the Chinese Chamber of Commerce on Sunday to pilot the affairs of Shanghai's premier Chinese commercial organisation, Mr. Sun Han-chang, manager of the Bank of China, and Mr. Fan Siao-peh, manager of the Tung Yu Bank, were elected respectively as chairman and vice-chairman of the chamber. Taoyin Wang Keng-ting of Shanghai was present to watch the balloting. Twenty-nine of the 35 directors were present.

Mr. Sun Han-chang secured 15 votes and Mr. Fan Chiao-peh 14. Mr. Ching Chen-ching, former vice-chairman, and Mr. Tien Snih-lin, another director, acted as the balloting committee. The election of Mr. Sun and Mr. Fan is considered by local business circles as very satisfactory. Both are regarded as men of high integrity.

Mr. Sun gained national fame in 1915 when he resisted Yuan Shih-kai's order of moritorium proclaimed over the notes of the Bank of China. The Shanghai branch has since enjoyed an enviable reputation despite the chaotic conditions of other government banks. Mr. Fan has been chairman of the Arbitration Board of the chamber, whose decisions in matters of business controversy have relieved the Mixed Court of much work.

AMERICAN FLEET ENDS VISIT HERE, SAILS TOMORROW

Sailors Hosts To American Ladies At Colorful Ball At The Town Hall

Following their "Night Before the Fourth" ball at the Town Hall last night and the Navy's celebration of the great American National Holiday here today, the Asiatic Fleet with the three thousand-odd sailors who have been visitors in Shanghai for the past four weeks is to sail tomorrow.

According to announcement made yesterday the fleet of destroyers will assemble off Woosung early tomorrow and then will steam away for Chefoo where the annual target practice will be held in coming weeks. The U. S. S. Huron, Flag Ship, is sailing in a few days for Yokohama, following the Destroyer Alden on which Admiral Strauss sailed to meet Secretary of the Navy Edwin Denby who is coming to Shanghai after a brief stay in Yokohama. It is understood that the destroyer fleet will again visit Shanghai on the way back to Manila from Chefoo.

Last night's ball at the Town Hall was perhaps the outstanding event of the visit of the American sailors to Shanghai and was one of the most notable affairs ever staged in Shanghai. The men of the fleet were the hosts to American ladies and arranged all the details of the affair. For the occasion the Town Hall was gaily decorated with flags, bunting and colored lights and it was estimated that upwards a thousand persons attended.

Chang Asks Peking To Pay His Troops

(Chung Mei Service)

Peking, July 1.—General Chang Tso-lin, nothing daubted by his defeat, has asked the Central Government for funds with which to pay a part of his troops. His argument is that the disbanded Fengtian soldiers came and asked to be enlisted again. Merely out of pity he took them on. To pay them, he borrowed money from private sources and now he wants Peking to settle up for him. In fact, he specifies that General Wang bring these funds back with him. Of course, he adds that as soon as the general troop disbandment scheme is set in operation, he will release these new men taken into the army.

Owing to limited accommodations invitations have been limited to Chinese and Municipal officials, the Consular Body, Naval Officers and officers and members of committees of organisations. 12:30-2:30—Reception at American Club to its members and men friends.

5:00-10:00—Daylight fireworks and American community lawn party with other features of entertainment.

8:00 p.m.—Electrical and search light display by all American naval craft in the Shanghai harbor.

Fair and warmer will the assurance of a storm of festive merrymaking over all Shanghai is the forecast for today, for this is the Fourth of July and the American community, whose numbers are doubled today by reason of the presence of the American Asiatic fleet, will make this observance of the National Holiday the most imposing Shanghai has ever seen. The celebration is to start at 8 o'clock this morning and is to continue far into the night. All American public offices and American business establishments in general will be closed through the day.

Patriotic exercises, official and informal, receptions, baseball, tennis and other sports, fireworks, dramatic entertainment, dancing and a spectacular electrical searchlight display in the evening by the assembled American fleet all enter into the day's program of events. For the first time in Shanghai American young-ters are to have a prominent part in the observation of the holiday.

FLAG RAISING

The opening event of the program will be the Flag Raising at the Consulate by American Boy Scouts and American children generally. This will take place at 8 o'clock this morning and when the gathering assembles at the Consulate American flags will be distributed to all of the children present. At the Flag Raising Mr. E. S. Cunningham, American Consul-General, will read the Declaration of Independence and an address on the use of the Flag will be delivered by Lieut.-Commander Robert A. Lavender, Fleet Radio Officer, who is on the U. S. S. Huron attached to Admiral Strauss' staff.

The field sports and track meet of the men of the fleet is to open at Hongkew Park at 9:30 o'clock in the morning. A program of fourteen events will be staged at the track meet.

THE OFFICIAL RECEPTION

Very greatly to the regret of Consul-General Cunningham it has been necessary this year to modify the character of the reception at the Consulate which takes place from 11:30 o'clock until 12:30. In former years the American community in general was expected to attend the Consulate reception on the Fourth of July, but the American community now has become so large that no plan could possibly be devised to entertain even a fraction of the number of Americans here in the restricted space of the Consul-General's residence.

Mr. Cunningham said yesterday that he keenly regretted that his reception this year could be only official in nature and he voiced the hope that in coming years when a new Consular building is provided by the Government it will again become possible to provide for the entire American community as in years past.

Cards for the Consulate reception have been issued to official representatives of all nations here, to Municipal Officials, to Navy officers, and to the heads of American organisations of all kinds who will represent the American community.

AMERICAN CLUB AT HOME

The Consul-General's reception will be followed by a reception at the American Club to its members and men friends, and by the reception on board the Admiral's flagship, the Huron. All Americans in Shanghai are invited to visit the Huron between 4 and 6 o'clock. They will be greeted on board by the officers and men of the Huron and will be shown about the ship. Boats will leave

Churchmen Asking For £100,000 To Save St. Paul's Cathedral

(Reuter's Service)

London, June 3.—An appeal to Churchmen throughout the world to contribute £100,000 to preserve St. Paul's Cathedral from serious danger of decay is made in the Times by the Dean and Chapter of St. Paul's.

They state that, though the work of strengthening one of the arches holding up the great dome is nearing completion, much remains to be done if the Cathedral is to be prevented from falling into decay.

Architects and engineers take such a serious view that it is feared that it will be necessary to close the Cathedral to enable the work to be pushed on.

Regains Speech In An Airplane

William Rosendorf and Father and Pilot Allen

WILLIAM Rosendorf, son of William Rosendorf, Sr., wealthy Washington (D. C.) resident, had been a mute for years, but regained slightly his power of speech while making an airplane flight over Atlantic City, N. J., with Pilot Allen. At a height of 5,000 feet he was heard to say "airplane." He can hear perfectly, but lost his power of speech through illness.

U. S. S. Huron To Wear 'Soup-And-Fish' Today

By Irene Corbally

The U.S.S. Huron, flagship and headquarters of Admiral Strauss, commander-in-chief of the Asiatic fleet, dons her full dress only on two birthdays—the national fete de jour, today, and the birthday of the national father on Feb. 22.

At such a very extraordinary, genial, smiling Chief Signalman Smith, was laying out the "full dress clothes" yesterday, in preparation for today's justifiable swanking. This morning, the 60 international flags, numeral flags, numeral pennants and special pennants constituting the Huron's "soup and fish," are fluttering gaily from the water line forward over the fore and main masts to the water line aft, in celebration of another Fourth of July abroad.

Anyone who is interested in seeing what makes the paddles turn on an American cruiser may step into one of the Huron small boats leaving the Customs Jetty constantly from 4 to 6 this afternoon and attend the reception on the main deck. The reception will be more than that, for anyone who wishes will be taken over the ship and shown its electrically propelled dough mixer, its mechanical laundry, its electric dishwashing machines and a number of other things designed to make a seaman's life a thing of beauty and a joy so long as he keeps his job in the navy.

This is the second successive Fourth of July the Huron has "entertained" in Shanghai. Today reception is tendered by the commander-in-chief, Admiral Strauss, who, in his absence to Japan to meet Secretary of the Navy Denby, will be represented by Admiral W. H. G. Bullard, in command of the Yangtsze patrol. He will be assisted by Captain Stearns, Commanding the U. S. S. Huron, by Admiral Strauss' staff and the ship's staff of officers. So that if anyone goes aboard and wants to see anything all he has to do is ask one of the well-informed officers who will be in constant attendance. Refreshments will be served on deck and the combined music of ship's orchestra and ship's band will float out over the pleasant waters from approximately 44 different instruments, all in perfect tune.

From one who has grown to know and love destroyers, a word of advice! The Huron is as much like a destroyer as a lovely little bungalow is like a $25,000 a year man's summer home. And by the same token, the Huron differs from the newest dreadnought as much as the quarter-of-a-million-a-year-income house differs from an oil magnate's estate. They are essentially the same in that the bungalow and the summer home and the "estate" have roofs and floors and the destroyers and the armored cruiser—which is the Huron—and the dreadnought have decks and companionways, but the resemblance stops there.

The Huron is the last ship of its type, the last American armored cruiser extant today. It has a tonnage of about 14,000 to the destroyer's 1,500. Its trimmings are more elaborate, more complicated, as befits a larger ship. But, at that, the destroyer men, while they have less deck space in which to stretch their sealegs in off hours, have more comforts than on the Huron where the boys still sleep in hammocks and keep their everyday and Sunday clothes in a bag. The destroyers, being of a newer type, have bunks for their men, and lockers for their clothes, stowed away under the bunks. Every available inch of space is utilized.

THE 50,000 TONNERS

And if anyone in his ignorance thinks that there are just destroyers, battleships and submarines, he might con over the

SUICIDE LEADS TO PROTEST ON SALE OF POISON

Mrs. Beatrice Chervet Ends Life By Taking Overdose Of Strychnine

Strong recommendations that representations be made through the Consular Body to the Municipal authorities to take steps to prevent the sale of poisons in Shanghai without a physician's prescriptions have been made by Mr. W. A. A. M. Daniells, Acting Dutch Consul-General as the result of the death Sunday of Mrs. Beatrice Georgia Chervet, a widow, who committed suicide at her home, 1 Carter Road, by taking strychnine.

At the inquest held yesterday morning in the Netherlands Consular Court, Mrs. Chervet was described as "broken-hearted and melancholy." The verdict of the court was that she had committed suicide while in a moment of mental depression.

Mrs. Chervet was 35 years old and a native of Port Elizabeth, South Africa. She had been employed as a shop assistant at a Nanking Road department store.

Mr. Dickson, No. 1 Carter Road, and Mr. A. J. Southcott, also of the same address, testified that Mrs. Chervet had been living in the house for the past eighteen months. She had come to Shanghai from Europe about two years ago. On Sunday morning, she was apparently depressed. She had tiffin in the dining room, and later went to her room with a cup of coffee, in which she apparently poured the poison. After drinking the coffee, she pointed to the bottle and stated that she had taken some of the contents, walked a short distance and collapsed. Death followed immediately.

REPORTS ON FIGHTING IN IRELAND ARE CONFLICTING

Rebels In Dublin Hoisted White Flag, Report

BUT THEY DENY IT

Regulars Squeeze Republicans Into Small Area

(Reuter's Service)

London, July 3.—News from Dublin is conflicting. According to some report the rebel headquarters have shown the white flag but other reports state that the red-cross flag was mistaken for the white flag.

The truth appears to be that operations were suspended for the night. The rebels are still holding the hotels and other buildings in Sackville Street but are completely invested.

They now occupy practically only an area, seven hundred yards long in the center of the city and confined to Sackville Street, Marlborough Street which is parallel to Sackville Street, and Parnell Square.

London, July 3.—While the Free State troops continue to round up rebels in the provinces of Ireland, the situation in some parts of the Counties of Cork and Limerick occasions anxiety. It is reported that the Republicans have concentrated at Cork, Fermoy, Mallow and other places, are commandeering motorcars, food and clothing, and are preparing for a siege. All papers are being censored.

London, July 3.—In the Dublin battle yesterday the National troops captured a number of rebel strongholds. Nearly 100 irregulars have now been taken prisoners. The rebels were driven out of eight positions.

One of the most important successes was the capture of Moran's Hotel, where thirty irregulars were captured.

Three 18-pounder shells were fired at the hotel, after which the rebels rushed across the street into a hotel opposite where they hoisted a white flag and surrendered.

FEW CASUALTIES

The casualties are not thought to have been serious.

The rebels' position in Moran's Hotel commanded an important artery of communications with Sackville Street. National troops invested practically the whole of this area throughout the day. A lengthy engagement preceded the surrender.

Armored-cars took an important part in the attack, which consisted principally of intense machine-gun fire.

London, July 3.—Heavy rain and the absence of people, trams and jaunting-cars from the streets conspired to render Dublin's Sunday a very melancholy one. Snipers were everywhere busy, firing on armored cars and ambulances.

A big push against the irregulars is momentarily expected as the efforts of the Lord Mayor, Mr. O'Neill, and Cardinal Byrne to avert the disastrous consequences of an attack on Sackville Street have failed. In the meantime there have been frequent bursts of machine gun fire against the fortified area, within which are De Valera, Cathal Brugha, Oscar Traynor, reputedly head of the Dublin Brigade, and Mme. Markiewicz with 500 insurgents.

BARRACKS BURNED

The only notable incident last night was the capture by the National forces of the Corporation workshops with their garrison after half an hour's engagement. The National forces report a few successes in the country where the irregulars are leaving a trail of burning barracks and are reported to be conscripting the country-folk.

London, July 1.—An incomplete list of the casualties in Dublin yesterday shows that 12 men were killed and 100 wounded. Fifty irregulars near the Four Courts surrendered this morning.

A proclamation, issued by the Ministry of the Defence, paying tribute to the courage and forbearance of the National Army in their first battle, declares: "With your aid we shall see the fight for the defence of the people to a successful issue."

The prorogation of the meeting of the Irish Parliament to July 15 is gazetted.

The irregulars have established a stronghold in Sackville Street where they have fortified a block of four hotels, including the fashionable Gresham Hotel, and the intervening buildings on a frontage of 200 yards. The visitors have been cleared out and their luggage used for barricades. It is believed that De Valera is in command. Tunnelling beneath the building has been heard throughout the night.

A lull this morning was broken by rifle fire when an attack was made on a National Army armored car in Talbot Street by irregulars who were barricaded in a side-street. Shortly after a mine exploded near the car which escaped and replied to the firing with a very vigorous fusillade.

The Chief of Staff of the National Army has ordered looters to be shot at sight.

NUMEROUS ATTACKS

The Provisional Government announces that irregulars are attacking the National Army positions at Listowel, Fovnes, Skibbereen, Abbey Feale, Newcastle West, and Broadford.

There were three incendiary fires due to bombs in business premises in Belfast last night.

Liam Lynch, the rebel Chief of Staff, has issued an Army order at Mallow, declaring that a plan of action is being carried out to secure complete control of West and South Ireland for the Republic.

The irregulars have taken possession of Listowel and Drogheda railway station.

Sporadic fighting, destruction of buildings and bridges, and commandeering of supplies and motors are reported throughout the country.

The National Army has effected large numbers of arrests.

London, July 2.—Free State troops suddenly appeared in motorcars at railway stations between Strabane and Londonderry and rounded up irregulars who had been holding up trains and seizing goods. Traders have now been informed that the line is free and the normal despatch of goods may be resumed.

Large numbers of irregulars in the Carrigan district consequent to the Free States' action in deserted to Londonderry, where there has been a considerable influx.

CAMP CAPTURED

The National troops captured Finner Camp, the headquarters of the Donegal irregulars, after a two-hours fight, in which two rebels were killed. Only fifty prisoners were taken, which indicates wholesale desertions as the camp was recently occupied by hundreds of men. The Irregulars in East Donegal have retired to Inch Island, Lough Swilly, whither they are conveying provisions preparatory to withstanding a siege.

London, July 2.—The expectations of an attack on the Irregulars' stronghold in Dublin so far have not been realised. The delay is believed to be due to efforts of the Lord Mayor and Archbishop Byrne to induce the Irregulars peaceably to evacuate their position in order to avoid wholesale destruction of property.

Meanwhile, Mr. Collins, in the course of an interview, declared that he would not rest until the people's authority was established.

There was a further surrender of irregulars last night. Their number is at present unknown.

One of three British soldiers wounded in an attack on a lorry by irregulars has died. The other two are in a serious condition.

As regards the Provinces, the heaviest fighting has been at Drogheda, where the rebels are holding Millmount Barracks and dominating the town.

Large Free State forces have invested Inch Island, Lough Swilly, intending to starve out the irregulars. Several kidnapped Loyalists are prisoners on the Island.

Republicans claim that the Free State troops at Listowel County Kerry, and West Limerick have joined the rebels.

Irregulars have blown up a railway bridge south of Drogheda, stopping traffic between Dublin and Belfast. The lines from Dublin to Cork and from Kilkenny to Waterford are reported to have been cut every 10 miles.

London, July 1.—It is stated that the total casualties in Dublin up to the present have been 40 killed and 180 wounded, including soldiers and civilians. Since the commencement of the battle nearly 300 irregulars have been captured which is estimated to be a third of the irregular forces in Dublin but it is reported that reinforcements are arriving from the provinces.

The irregulars have blocked the streets with commandeered vehicles, isolating an area of three-quarters of a mile in the center of the city.

The day has been comparatively quiet.

The telegraphic and telephonic isolation of Dublin renders news from the provinces unreliable.

Slayers Of Wilson Gave Wrong Names

(Reuter's Service)

London, July 1.—The identity of Connolly and O'Brien, the two men charged with the murder of Sir Henry Wilson, was revealed on their reappearance at Westminster Police Court today as Reginald Dunn and Joseph O'Sullivan, described as ex-soldiers.

There was little public interest in the proceedings today. The prisoners were brought to the court in a motor car with an armed guard. They entered the dock briskly, having fully recovered from their injuries, and, smiling, consulted typewritten copies of the evidence at the inquest, which had been supplied them.

One of them made notes and sketched a witness during the proceedings which retold the story of the assassination and pursuit. Both were amused during the evidence of how they misled the police with regard to their identity when a witness remarked that the bigger prisoner had a foreign accent when he shouted to the crowd to stand back. The defending solicitor said that both had been supposed to be foreigners.

A detective inspector said that he had found in O'Sullivan's lodging six bandoliers, copies of the official organ of the Irish Volunteers and also a letter written in Gaelic addressed to O'Sullivan from Carrigrohane, headed "Irish Republic" saying, inter alia, "I know, Joe, that you are not a Free Stater. You could not be. We will have no Free State Governor, no oath to the King, no Ulster cut off from the rest of Ireland. The fight must go on. We have no allegiance to de Valera, Collins or Griffith. We are not politicians. We give our allegiance to the Republic and, if needs be, our lives."

The accused were committed for trial at the Old Bailey.

Tsao Kun Favors Retention Of Ho's Shanghai Yamen

(Staff Wire to THE CHINA PRESS)

Peking, July 3.—The abolition of the Yamen of the Shanghai Defense Commissioner cannot be carried out as yet. This is the subject matter of a telegram sent to Tuchun Chi-yuan of Kiangsu by General Tsao Kun today. General Tsao stated that the time is not yet opportune to take this drastic measure which may lead to serious consequences.

Tsao has also instructed Admiral Tu Shih-kwei, Chief of the Admiralty, to maintain an amicable attitude towards General Ho Feng-lin, the Shanghai Defense Commissioner, when the admiral proceed to Shanghai to resume his position.

Tsao Kun's employment of four of the notorious monarchists has caused a great deal of adverse comment. They are Yang Tu, Koo Au, Hsia Shao-tien and Sih Ta-ko who brought Yuan Shih-kai to destruction.

FOR REMOVING SUPERFLUOUS HAIR.

No woman who has any sense of beauty will deny that superfluous hair is one of the greatest drawbacks to good looks.

Realising this, women of all times have put themselves to any expense, and have endured considerable pain and discomfort in order to rid themselves of this great disfigurement.

Nowadays electrolysis is a prevalent "cure" for this evil, but in reality this process involves a great deal of unnecessary expense, waste of time and pain.

The simplest quickest, and most effective treatment can easily be carried out by any sufferer, in the privacy of her home. This is the recipe:

Procure about 1 oz. powdered pheminol from your chemist; mix a sufficient quantity with a few drops of water into a stiff paste. Apply this carefuly and thoroughly to the hair you wish to remove, and allow the paste to dry. In a few minutes it can be gently scraped away. The skin is left absolutely free from hair, and should then be carefully washed in warm water, and if desired, lightly dusted with a little talcum powder. (Advt.)

"I have all the life insurance I want."

"LET us see. Your salary is six thousand dollars a year. You carry ten thousand dollars insurance, and you say that it is all you want. If you had a building worth a hundred thousand dollars, and if it were bringing you an income of six thousand dollars a year net, how much fire insurance would you carry on it? You wouldn't be satisfied with ten thousand dollars, would you? You would take a hundred thousand dollars if you could get it but you probably couldn't get over eighty thousand dollars. Then don't be satisfied with ten thousand dollars life insurance, for the situations are exactly alike."

This Will Be A Big Day ---If It Doesn't Rain

the Custom's jetty at frequent intervals commencing at 4 o'clock.

Baseball, the great American national sport, will occupy the center of the stage in the afternoon, Shanghai playing the All-Navy stars at the Race Course for the Challenge Cup. The management is making arrangements for a record attendance as Shanghai will be faced by the strongest Navy team in some years, and the baseball fans are keenly looking forward to a stirring pitchers' battle between Hopkins of the Navy and John Scott, who will hurl for the civilians. The baseball game will be followed by a tug of war between teams from the U. S. S. Huron and the Destroyers. This will be one of the big attractions of the day.

THE LAWN PARTY

All details of the American Community Lawn Party, one of the important departures of this year's observance of the Fourth, had been arranged last night. The Lawn Party will be held on the grounds of the Shanghai Race Club in the area surrounding the main grandstand. It will open at 5 o'clock with music which will be supplied by the full Municipal Band.

One of the first events will be a flag drill by American children and following this on two platforms that have been erected exhibitions of remarkable Chinese juggling will be given. One of the exceptional details of the Lawn Party program will be the tableaux in which sixty American children will depict incidents and periods of American history. Among the tableaux to be given will be "The Spirit of '76," "Priscilla and John Alden," "Puritans Returning from Church" and others. The final rehearsal for these tableaux will be held this morning at the American Consulate following the Flag Raising ceremony.

Between the hours of 5 and 7 o'clock the display of daylight fireworks, heralded as the best exhibition of the kind ever brought to Shanghai, will be staged.

DINNER AT SIX

The basket dinner is to be given at 6 o'clock. Members of the committee that has arranged the general details of the Lawn Party have emphasized that every American in Shanghai is invited. American families are expected to bring basket lunches and these have been urged particularly to bring food enough, not only for their own needs, but also for guests who may be unprovided for.

For the dinner tables and chairs are to be supplied and it is announced particularly that the American festival-season stand-by, the ice cream cone, will be supplied in abandance to all guests. Lemonade also is to be served to all comers.

In the evening moving pictures will be shown between the hours of 7:30 and 10 o'clock. One of the features of the moving picture program will be Douglas Fairbanks notable production, "Modern Musketeers." While the moving picture entertainment is in progress the gathering will be able to witness the searchlight display of the American warcraft in the harbor, which is to start at 8 o'clock. Assurance is given that the grand stand at the Race Course will prove an excellent vantage point from which to watch the searchlight display.

TENNIS AT CRICKET CLUB

Additional early-evening attractions are the reception at the Columbia Country Club for members and their friends and the tennis match between the University of California team and four players representing Shanghai. The tennis will start at 4:30 o'clock, at the Cricket Club Courts with Captain Wallace Bates, American intercollegiate champion, opposing Parbury, one of the best local players.

The impressive electrical display by the twenty American warships in the harbor will start at 8 o'clock, each vessel planning to outdo the others in the electrical and searchlight displays. These can be seen to advantage at any point along the Bund for American naval craft are anchored in many parts of the River from Holt's Wharf in Yantszepoo to above the French Bund.

All the cafes and cabarets are announcing special July Fourth menus and dances.

PARTY AT COUNTRY CLUB

The celebration started last night with the Night before dance at the Columbia Country Club and the monster ball at the Town Hall, when the sailors off the destroyers of the three divisons in port were hosts to Shanghai ladies.

Special Fourth of July menus will be the rule on all the American ships in port and several are to issue souvenir menu booklets. The most ambitious is that published by the crew of the U. S. S. Zane, 337, a 32 page souvenir including many pictures of countries visited by the destroyer on its around-the-world cruise. Another feature of the program will be cartoons by Zane of The Evening Star, a coincidence in names which was aptly made use of by Lieutenant Kincaid, who is in charge of publishing the program. The U. S. S. Chandler is printing the menu in both English and Chinese.

CHINESE FLAGS TO FLY

The Chinese gunboats in port will dress ship today, instructions having been given today by the Admiralty House. General Ho Feng-lin, the Defense Commissioner, Mr. Hsu Yuan, Commissioner of Foreign Affairs, Magistrate Shen Pao-chang of the Shanghai City and Mr. Hsu Kuo-liang, Chief of the Nantao Police will call at the United States Consulate General today to offer their congratulations.

table of tonnage, beginning with the 6 magnificent battle cruiser 30,000 tons each and 875 feet long, which, due to the workings of the Disarmament Conference, never existed in entirety except on plans. Four of these superships were scrapped and two have been converted into aeroplane carriers. Next in line, according to the most famous raconteur aboard the Huron, one master-at-arms Weller, who is a seaman of the old school, with as level a head as he has a strong arm (for strength of arm references see refractory young sailors aboard the Huron), are the super-dreadnoughts of 42,000 tons. Below those are the dreadnoughts, then the battleships of the old type, then the armored cruisers, to which type the Huron belongs and is the sole surviving example, then the protective cruisers, carrying only guns and not the six inch armor plate that is the Huron's uniform. Besides, there are gunboats, sub-chasers, destroyers, mine layers and a flock of smaller craft. Mr. Weller knows them all by class. And he knows and can recite the names of the ships in each class. Some memory!

The Huron was not very talkative yesterday for it had just lost 54 members of its mess by reason of a transfer of crew, and it was a bit glum in consequence thereof. The 54, whose enlistment period is about up, are on their way home, many of them happily, not a few regretfully, for the Orient is one of the favorite stopping-off places for American sailors.

The men on the American ships know the principal ports by heart but the Huron knows it, coast line from Manchuria to Hongkong, and the cross-currents over to the Philippines, like a bookworm knows a choice volume.

It has even slid into Vladivostok harbor twice, but since the departure of the American army from Vladivostok and the subsequent temporary cessation of most American business there, the Huron, whose duty it is to protect commerce, has not spent a Siberian vacation there.

Tableaux Rehearsal Called For Today

Special notice was issued yesterday by Mrs. F. J. Raven to the sixty American children who will take part in the tableaux this afternoon at the American Community Lawn party that a final rehearsal of the tableaux will be held this morning. The rehearsal is to be held at the American Consulate immediately after the Flag Raising ceremony which will be the opening event of today's program.

TIENTSIN SHANGHAI PEKING

SOLONS FLOUT LI; HERE TO OPPOSE PEKING SESSION

Ousted By Chen Chiung-ming Parliamentarians Will Seek Revenge

Holding that the Li Yuan-hung administration is illegal, members of the old Parliament, 58 strong, who had been in Extraordinary session in Canton and ousted recently by the soldiery of General Chen Chiung-ming, passed resolutions denouncing the Peking Government at a meeting held in their Frenchtown headquarters on Sunday. They will repudiate the Northern government, support Dr. Sun Yat-sen, condemn the action of General Chen and organise a Society for the Maintenance of the Legal President.

The Shanghai legislators will be reinforced by an equal number of Parliamentarians who are on their way to this port from Hongkong, after having fared badly at the hands of the troops of General Chen Chiung-ming. Political circles attach much significance to Sunday's meeting, which may mean the undoing of the re-convocation of Parliament in Peking, which alone is trusted with the working of reunification. President Li Yuan-hung has himself admitted that he is in office pro tem and that a legal president can only be elected by the properly re-convened parliament.

ILL-TREATED BY CHEN

Sunday's meeting decided to issue a declaration, repudiating the legality of General Li Yuan-hung as president, and condemning the action of General Chen in ousting Dr. Sun Yat-sen, whom that Extraordinary Session had elected as the legal chief executive of the Republic. The solons will also issue a manifesto on their ill-treatment at the hands of General Chen. The meeting was presided over by Mr. Han Shin-tsai, a prominent Chekiang representative.

Twenty provinces were represented at the meeting. A committee of 28 was elected to devise means of establishing the Society for the Maintenance of the Legal President. It is estimated that over 100 Parliamentarians will constitute the opposition, a force which will wage war against the assembling Parliament in Peking. It is believed that this will be sufficient to end all hopes of the Peking Legislature to secure a quorum, thus preventing it functioning in a passive way.

The members of the extraordinary session were virtually driven away by General Chen Chiung-ming's forces after the latter had succeeded in disarming Dr. Sun's bodyguards and forced the Southern president to take refuge in a gunboat.

The soldiers invaded the headquarters of the Parliament and announced that the solons would be given a few hours within which to gather up their personal belongings and proceed to Peking to attend the session of the Old Parliament.

They stated that they would not be responsible for the Parliamentarians' safety if the latter chose to remain in Canton. Consequently, the law-makers were obliged to flee the city, many of them not even taking their baggages with them.

HIGH BAIL IS FIXED IN CASE OF R. S. BOYD

District Attorney's Application Granted In Part By U. S. Court

Bail of G. $10,000 and Tls. 5,000 was fixed by U. S. Commissioner Nelson E. Lurton at a hearing in the American Court yesterday in the case of Mr. Ralph S. Boyd, president and general manager of R. S. Boyd and Company, formerly of the Allen Line Building, who is charged with embezzlement of Tls. 30,000 entrusted to him by the Provincial Mint of Hunan Province.

The original information against Mr. Boyd was filed on April 24, and he was ordered held to the United States Court for China by Mr. Ferno J. Schuhl, then United States Commissioner.

Yesterday, Mr. Leonard G. Husar, U. S. District Attorney, filed an application to increase Mr. Boyd's bail to G. $20,000 and Tls. 10,000. Mr. Husar said that the defendant, who had practically been free on his own recognisance, had not curtailed his activities in the least, judging by further complaints brought in by other Chinese.

Mr. R. S. Haskell, appearing for Mr. Boyd, argued against the high bail, declaring that a sum of Mex. $11,000 should be sufficient. His client, he said, had not attempted to escape the jurisdiction of the court and the demand for so high a sum as that proposed by Mr. Husar would merely compel him to remain in jail until his case was heard. He denied that Mr. Boyd's operations now were in any way illegal.

California Tennis Stars To Play All Of Shanghai At Cricket Club Today

Toussaint And Carnavarro To Play In Doubles While Parbury And Roberts Oppose Visitors' Strongest Singles Players

University of California tennis men will be given a severe test this afternoon when they meet All of Shanghai at the Shanghai Cricket Club courts. Last year's doubles champions, Toussaint and Carnavarro will oppose Conrad and Jensen, while Parbury, who is playing a strong game will meet Wally Bates, and Roberts, another of the best local players make up the local team, against the youngster, Wilson, in singles.

Today's matches should provide the best tennis of the season. The visitors have not yet had an opportunity to display their merits in competition though from matches stopped by rain, and from friendly exhibition sets, the local public has had a good look-see at their excellent abilities. Shanghai players of course are too well known to need comment, and it may be said they are all at or close to their best game.

Toussaint and Carnavarro will give Shanghai a thoroughly good run for honors in the doubles match against Conrad and Jensen. The local pair with their careful play and their absolute knowledge of each other's game are formidable opponents for any possible visiting doubles. They are fortunate too in that they are not pitted against the best of the California players.

The singles match Parbury vs Bates will undoubtedly draw a good portion of the spectators. The pair on present form and on reputation are just about evenly matched. Each has shown superb form in recent play. Their match is bound to be a thriller. The other singles between Roberts and Wilson will have just as much tennis interest. Roberts has often been considered the best singles in Shanghai in spite of his defeats by Bill Pott, and is certain to play Wilson a hard game today.

Matches yesterday were cancelled because of soft courts. The visitors went through some nice exhibition friendly matches on the hard courts at the Country Club, before a small gallery, and they showed some of the best tennis ever seen here.

Bates and Conrad played a doubles match against Parbury and George, which they won 6-3, 5-7, 6-3, while Wilson and Jensen lost a three-set match to Elmore and Humphreys, 5-7, 8-6, 5-7. The play was followed by a special one-set exhibition in doubles between Bates and Jensen and Wilson and Conrad which the former won by the score of 11-9.

The Californians yesterday showed exceptional form. Their readiness for every possible ball was especially commented upon. They played a nice game, and a hard one. The first sets were marked with a touch of wildness all around, but when they got settled there were brilliant passages. Bates and Conrad made a good pair against Parbury and George. Bates was not on his real game and Conrad was missing in his service, but their sharp cross court placements and clever volleying brought them through easily.

The final exhibition between the four Californians held the few spectators until the last stroke. Bates appeared to have tired some while Conrad on the opposing side came stronger, especially in the first ball of his serve. Wilson was always good, and Jensen with many tricky placements scored high for his side.

The play at the Cricket Club courts today commences at 4:30 o'clock.

BAER SAYS 'BUGS' Baer:

GINK HAD MANY GOOD FRIENDS

Champion Of Roughtown Loved To Show Folks How To Leave Towns

BY "BUGS" BAER

Dear, dear:

The dear season seems to be open, so you can expect some shooting. How did Gink Fowler class with the best men of the prize ring? Could he have flattened Jim Corbett at his best? What would he have done with a Philadelphia lightweight, or wasn't Gink that heavy? What would he have done with England's strong men, or wasn't Gink that weak?

Hoping for speedy silence.

LUNCHWAGON MONK,
Newark.

Comparing Gink with other pugilists is like comparing curtain pole rings with cruliers. They look alike, but there the resemblance bangs the bumpers.

Gink could have walloped Corbett with one hand. He could have defeated Dempsey with two feet. When he was chased into the doped arena, he was a winner before he started. The other man immediately stepped off for a Congressional junket through the doubtful States.

Gink's success was due to his concentration. He focused his mind on the canvas. He never took his eyes off it and always fell face down so he could watch it.

The ring was home to Gink and the canvas was his bed.

He swore that no alien face would ever touch American canvas while he was there to defend it.

The result that he attained an efficiency never before reached by skidding scrappers. Did you ever pipe Johnny Dundee bounding off the ropes like a pie off Charley Chaplin's face?

Well, Gink did the same thing with the canvas that Dundee does with the ropes. He had the old welcome door mat tuned up by expert canvas musicians so that he would carom off it.

Down he would go like a broken window sash. Up he would bounce like mushrooms in the field. Or any place. Mushrooms come up both in the field and in the restaurant.

South he would migrate and then north he would bounce again. This style of fighting naturally puzzled his opponent, who thought that Gink was on hinges like a cellar door.

When Gink's jaw would have his opponent's knuckles bleeding and groggy, Gink would then finish them with his chin.

He absorbed punishment like an old lady's ear trumpet soaks up gossip.

He would accept all the knuckles in sight and still look famished.

The day he umpired the eleventh opening game between Roughtown and Baboon, Arkansas. He was congratulated by the President of the Boots League for his good judgment on thrown bats.

He umpired from inside an army tank and turned on his decisions with a machine gun. They presented Gink with the keys to the city limits.

Roughtown was leading by seven of Gink's decisions when the Baboon crowd broke the levee and Roughtown was flooded with unfeathered blackjacks.

Gink was popular in Roughtown. Even the iron deer on the front lawns used to kick at him.

Nick Boyle Is Out For A Scrap

Nick Boyle, a scrapper who learned the game under the tutelage of Jimmy Clabby and Les Darcy in Australia, and then fought through many hard fought battles with Alino Flores, Mack Villon, Freddy Williams and others of note, is out with a challenge to any light weight in Shanghai. Boyle weighs in at 135 pounds though he says he can take on anyone up to 20 lbs. heavier. Boyle aims his challenge almost directly at Chaney, a lightweight of the Shanghai Boxing Club, though he says he will take on even Corbett, a 155 pounder, a fighter well known locally. Boyle has a book of good press clippings chiefly from Manila papers supporting his claims for notice, and has appeared here once, in the Jiu-Jitsu Boxing and Wrestling tournament at the Town Hall two weeks ago. He would probably hold up his end of a program in satisfactory fashion.

PATTERSON WINS FROM KINGSCOTE IN GREAT BATTLE

(Reuter's Service)

London, July 1.—The weather was showery at Wimbledon today. The day was chiefly occupied with the opening of the Gentlemen's and Mixed Doubles but there were three Singles fourth-round matches, the chief of which saw the elimination of the British mainstay, Major Kingscote, who after a magnificent display went down fighting hard to Mr. G. L. Patterson 6-4, 3-6, 5-7, 6-4, 6-3.

There is now every prospect of Messrs. Anderson and Patterson contesting the final, the latter's present brilliance making him the favorite.

Mr. Lycett beat M. Brugnon 6-2, 1-6, 7-5, 6-3 and Mr. Mavrogordato beat Russell 6-1, 7-5, 6-0. These now accompany Mr. Patterson into the fifth round.

In the third round M. Cochet beat M. Misu 3-6, 6-3, 6-3, 4-6, 6-2 and is now the only Frenchman left. He meets Mr. Anderson in the fourth round.

Miss Ryan and Mrs. Peacock entered the fourth round of the Ladies' Singles. Mr. O'Hara Wood and Mlle. Lenglen made a convincing initial appearance in the Mixed Doubles.

All-Navy Nine To Play Shanghai Today For The American Community Cup

Local Team Will Have Strongest Opposition Ever Offered With Pick Of Sailor Players Opposing; Game Starts At 3 O'clock

The big Fourth of July baseball game today for the American Community Cup which is provided for a Shanghai-Navy game, will have for the first time an all-Far Eastern Fleet nine opposing the local club for the annual honor. It has been customary heretofore for a one-boat's or one-division's team to represent the Navy. The departure from this practice came through the request of the local baseball magnates. It was wished that the strongest possible sailor team be pitted against Shanghai for the trophy.

The game is to start at 3 o'clock. Consul General Edwin S. Cunningham will throw the first ball, and Admiral W. H. R. Bullard will play as catcher for the opening throw. After the game the Admiral or the Commander of the flagship Huron will present the trophy to the captain of the winning side.

The game itself should be a slimmer. John Scott, the local hurler par excellence has been saved for the contest, and he will have working against him a half dozen of the Navy's best pitchers including Hopkins, Louie Placencia, Draper, Ward, Griffith and Grim. The game is certain to be a pitchers' battle. And honors should be about even with the Navy playing their best players from a score of boats against the local club.

Ensign Tyler, athletic officer of the flotilla, last night was not prepared to announce a positive lineup for today's game, though he gave out his selections from the fleet. Dunlap will start as catcher with Radcliffe at first. J. Placencia, Cluni, Brosek and Seymanski will be available for the infield. Lydon, Callery and Morehead will probably make up the outfield with Petrasek, Dumas and Radcliffe as reserves.

Disbandment Meet At Chinese Chamber

Delegates from thirty Chinese organisations held a meeting at the Chinese Chamber of Commerce on Saturday to discuss the question of disbanding troops.

THIS AMERICAN MOTHER
Testifies That Baby's Own Tablets Do All That Is Claimed for Them and More.

Tens of thousands of mothers sleep soundly at night throughout the length and breath of America, knowing that with Baby's Own Tablets in the house their little ones are safeguarded in case of sudden sickness.

Writes one of these American mothers, Mrs. A. H. Waite, of 1207 Fremont Avenue, North Minneapolis: —"I wish every mother knew how good Baby's Own Tablets are, then there would be fewer sick children. My last baby was sickly from birth and the benefit that the Tablets have afforded is simply wonderful. They do all that is claimed for them and more. I would not be without them for anything."

Every careful parent will insist that medicine given to children should be absolutely pure, safe, gentle and free from narcotic drugs. Baby's Own Tablets exactly answer this description. They quickly relieve fever, digest colic and constipation, check diarrhoea, relieve croup, allay teething pains, cure indigestion, expel worms, quiet the nerves and bring restful, health-giving sleep in a perfectly natural way. Of druggists, or post at 25 cents per vial direct from Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., 96 Szechuen Road, Shanghai.

Wet Weather In America Keeps Cotton Prices Up

(Reuter's Service)

New York, June 9.—Throughout the week the cotton market has progressed steadily towards the 25-cent level which many of the best houses in the trade have been predicting for a long time past. A wet May now seems likely to be followed by a wet June, in which event the 12-million bale crop which many believe to be the absolute minimum needed, can hardly be attained.

To what levels prices may go with a crop under 12 millions no one dare say; but the most conservative are now willing to concede that 25 cents is a near possibility unless the weather changes permanently for the better.

A feature of the present advance has been the presence of the trade as large buyers of futures, indicating that mills are getting alarmed over the question of supplies and are taking measures to protect themselves. Thus far most of the buying and bull talk has been along weather lines, and less has been heard of boll weevil until this week when the weekly Government crop and weather bulletin mentioned the presence of weevil in practically all parts of the Eastern belt.

WARM WET WEATHER

Undoubtedly the warm, wet weather has aided the spread of this pest, and even should the weather become more settled, it is quite likely that boll weevil damage this season will equal if not exceed that of last year, judging from the reports at hand.

A significant sign of the times when reconstruction talk is in the air, is the lament of even bulls themselves over the possibility of a small crop this year. They look upon a yield of under 12 million bales as a calamity and, while most of them have made money on the present upturn in prices, they would much rather see a fairly large crop this season at a price that would move it profitably to the farmer and the mill men than see an insufficient supply go at a price so high as to check business all around.

The world probably needs a good crop of cotton this year as never before, yet the present outlook is far from favorable for such an outcome. From all parts of the belt have come complaints about delayed planting and backward growth, and while some of it can be overcome by re-planting, all such cotton will be subject to boll weevil damage later on, so that even should the weather improve there doubtless soon will be complaints of weevil activity in greater volume than those already received.

UNDER 11 MILLIONS

A New Orleans house declares that even allowing for an increase of as much as 8 percent in acreage, it is impossible on the Government figures of June 2 to figure an indicated crop of as much as eleven million bales, which obviously will not be sufficient, especially if the loan to Germany goes through.

"The world needs a fourteen or fifteen million bale crop," says another observer of market conditions, "if we are to have a safe margin of surplus. Another month of bad weather would create a sad scramble by spinners for supplies and send prices to a level that would greatly curtail business. A yield such as is now indicated would be a calamity."

A Savannah cotton journal urges farmers and others to sell their spots at those levels, declaring that "the time to sell is when demand is good and the tendency is upward. It is to be remarked that 20 cents now is not so very much less than 40 cents was two years ago, for money is worth more now."

PRICES ARE STIFFER

Advices received here from Memphis say it is estimated that more than half of the unsold stock is held above the market. There is a good demand for practically every character of cotton but the firmness of sellers together with the scarcity of desirable grades is restricting business seriously.

Reports from practically all leading centers in the South suggest an excellent demand, but very light offerings. Both domestic and foreign interests are in the market at Memphis and it is apparent from the numbers of orders and inquiries in the market, that they are getting uneasy over the supply situation.

A local trade paper figures that outside of mill stocks, the loss in available supplies carried over from previous crops has aggregated, in the neighborhood of 2,549,000 bales, with 8 weeks takings still to be supplied.

Houston, Texas, reports the arrival of the first bale of this year's crop on June 2. It was sold on the floor of the exchange there for $1,200, and will be shipped to Manchester, England. The bale was classed as middling and weighed 533 pounds.

It was reported from Atlanta, Georgia, that low grade cotton was scarce and hard to buy as holders were asking very narrow differences for what was left. The recent advance stiffened the ideas of holders to such an extent that they were asking one to two cents more than the market would justify.

Newly Appointed Civil Governor Of Fengtien Fugitive

(Eastern News Agency)

Mukden, July 2.—Mr. Wang Yung-chiang, newly appointed Civil Governor of Fengtien, who has been indisposed in the Japan Red Cross Hospital here, on the night of June 30 suddenly left here for his native place, Chinchow, by the S. M. R.

Though it is ostensibly reported that he has returned to his native place owing to his father's serious illness with the aquiescence of leading figures in Mukden, judging from the fact that on the occasion of his departure there was none who saw him off at the station, it may be inferred that his going really was an escape.

This departure means a great loss not only to the Fengtien faction, for he is an important figure not only in financial circles in Fengtien, but also in the Three Eastern Provinces. As there now is no one here who is bold enough to offer bitter counsel to Chang Tso-lin, it is expected that the advocates of civil administration will lose their influence again.

Taken from every angle of the situation in the Three Eastern Provinces, Mr. Wang's departure from Mukden will, it is anticipated, aggravate the situation in this part of China.

DENBY PARTY WELCOMED BY TOKIO OFFICIALS

U. S. Navy Chief Greeted On Arrival At Japanese Capital

(Eastern News Agency)

Tokio, July 2.—Mr. Edwin Denby, the United States Secretary of the Navy, and the party, accompanied by Admiral Uryu, who had gone to Yokohama to welcome the party at the wharf, arrived here this afternoon at 4:26 o'clock.

At Tokio Station, the party was received enthusiastically by many leading officials and private persons, including Premier Admiral Baron Kato, Prince Tokugawa, Speaker of the House of Peers and the Cabinet Ministers.

There were walls of citizens along the roads, through which the distinguished guests from the land across the Pacific Ocean passed.

HUGHES SENDS GREETINGS

Tokio, July 1.—A Washington special telegram to the Jiji states that Mr. Hughes, Secretary of State, through the agency of a special correspondent of the Jiji, resident at Washington, paid his compliments to the people of Japan to the following effect:

"The forthcoming visit to Japan of Mr. Denby, Secretary of Navy, and the party of prominent alumni who graduated from the Annapolis Naval Academy in 1881, is, in a narrow sense, an important event with the life of the alumni above mentioned and of Admiral Uryu, and is indeed worthy of remembrance. Taken on a large scale, the visit, it may fairly be said, has a profound significance towards calling to memory the constant friendship, which has long existed between the Governments of Japan and the United States.

"It is especially opportune that those distinguished personages, who are connected with the Navies of the two countries, are about to meet together in the country, which has made a great contribution towards the remarkable success brought about by the Washington Conference concerning the plan for the reduction of naval armaments. The world has to express its sense of gratitude in eternity to Japan and other Powers, which have devoted themselves to the realization of the reduction of naval armaments."

PAPERS WELCOME PARTY

In connection with Secretary Denby's visit, newspapers here one and all, are welcoming the party. The Tokio Nichi Nichi says:

"The visit to Japan of Mr. Denby and the party is not of official nature, the object being to hold in Tokio a gathering of Alumni, who graduated from the Annapolis Naval Academy, in the Year 1881, with the object of looking back upon the bygone days, when they were in the Academy together with Admiral Uryu. Taking into consideration the fact that the civilisation of our country is to a large extent indebted to the United States and its people, it may safely be said that the material civilisation of modern Japan is a gift from the United States. In order to achieve the reality of friendship between Japan and the United States, the former has entered into several Treaties with the latter and has even abandoned the Anglo-Japanese Alliance.

"As regards all pending questions existing between the two countries, we are endeavoring to gain the United States' understanding by unbosoming our sincerity even to excess. Now that the distinguished American visitors are given an opportunity to see personally Japan and the Japanese people, it is devotedly to be hoped that they will thoroughly observe genuine Japan and Japanese."

MINE GUARDS ROBBED

(Dalla News Agency)

Harbin, June 28.—A skirmish has taken place between the Partisans and the guards of the Suchan mines, at the end of which the guards were made prisoner and taken to the mountains. A money-box of the Suchan mining administration was also captured. The Partisans are very active along the Usuri railway line. Many bridges are blown up and the road-bed is torn in many places.

PRESIDENT ASKS DR. SUN TO AID REORGANISATION

Telegraphs Southern Leader To Visit Him At Capital

(Chung Mei Service)

Peking, July 1.—On top of the report that Dr. Sun Yat-sen would take advantage of the safe conduct offered him through negotiations with General Chen Chiung-ming's forces and go to Shanghai, we have President Li Yuan-hung telegraphing him recalling their close position and how they together fought for the Republic, and finally asking him to come to Peking to lend his assistance in reorganising. This telegram reads as follows: "We have been confidential friends for many years, and although we are at a great distance from each other, inwardly we are very close. I often think of the first revolution which established this great republic, and the way in which you sacrificed yourself in the South and I worked in the North. When I recall this, I cannot but help think of the changes since then. It is because of your frankness and sincerity that our country lives and your name is renowned. Now that our Parliament has been reorganised and everyone asks for peace, it is time that you should come into high office and I should retire. Unfortunately I was forced to come back to the Government, and no doubt, I am not competent for the position. Therefore, I heartily hope to have your aid in my work. We have been confidants, and thus I dare say these things and petition you to come North. I firmly believe that you will not fail me, and I hope to have your answer regarding this."

The Coalition Cabinet to be formed after the meeting of Parliament is being hashed in local political editorials. To ease things over, they refer to the Yen Cabinet as acting only until Parliament meets and a permanent cabinet, composed of representative men both from the North and South can be formed. The death of Wu Ting-fang took away the first choise for premier and that office has caused most speculation. The latest candidate is Tang Shao-yih, who held the post under Yuan Shih-kai and later joined the Southern side. In fact, it is rumored that the Speaker of one of the Houses of Parliament and a certain Civil Governor are negotiating with the Paoting powers and with Tang Shao-yih to bring his appointment about.

Frontier Bank is Reported Wobbly

(Chung Mei Service)

Peking, July 1.—Notes of the Frontier Bank have become a bit shady according to the foreign banks. Some banks will accept a small amount, such as twenty five dollars, while others will take any amount for deposit, subject, of course, to charging back in case collection cannot be made. However, it is not felt that this tightness is very serious and probably when the foreign banks reopen after the present vacation, these notes will be acceptable.

On this score, it is interesting to note that the Ministry of Education seems to have a penchant for paying back salaries at the exact moment some Chinese bank is in difficulties. Last winter just as the Communications notes were in bad repute, that Ministry paid up with money that could not be spent. Now they again pick the exact minute to issue Frontier Bank notes which meet with the fate above mentioned. Maybe this policy is expected to encourage thrift in their rarely paid staff.

TAKES UP WORK

(Chung Mei Service)

Peking, June 27.—The Peking Government is in receipt of a telegram from Tsao Peng-chang, reporting that he has taken over his new post of Director of Finances for the Province of Kiangsi.

Mr. Tsao was appointed to this directorate by the Civil and Military Governors of Kiangsi just before the ex tuchun, General Chen Kuang-yuan left for Peking.

Sun's Troops Will Try To Recapture Canton, Is Report

(Eastern News Agency)

Canton, July 1.—It is reported that the troops under the command of Generals Hsu Chung-chi and Li Fu-lin, some 10,000 strong, left Kanchow for Canton on June 23 with the object of recapturing Canton. Though it is not yet ascertained what route they have chosen for their march, it appears that their plan of campaign is to break through one of the defensive positions of the troops under General Chen Chiung-ming and to descend upon Canton in force.

Meanwhile, General Chen is determined to have a decisive battle with General Hsu Chung-chi by a single effort with a view to making the final account of the situation in the South. It is reported that General Chen has already given instructions to his troops. It is expected that a decisive battle will be fought within a week between the two contending armies.

General Chen Chiung-ming is alleged to have wired to General Wu Pei-fu, stating that he is in favor of the reconvocation of the Old Parliament, and that in the event of a constitution being enacted, the present centralism should be replaced by federalisation based on the autonomy of federated provinces. He is utterly opposed to the unification of the country by force of arms.

Wu Retruns To Loyang; Plans For Future Cause Worry

(Eastern News Agency)

Peking, July 2.—General Wu Pei-fu left Paotingfu for Loyang yesterday. In this connection, a newspaper, belonging to the Chihli faction, writes as follows:

The circular telegram issued by General Wu Pei-fu is worth studying as to whether he has declared that he would never participate in political affairs in the future or he has an ambition of coming to the fore again in the political world of China at an opportune moment after making all necessary preparations secretly.

According to those who are in close contact with General Wu Pei-fu, it is unknown as yet if upon his return to Loyang he will organise a political body by effecting a connection with some Tuchuns of local provinces. It cannot be held certain that he will not go a step further and issue another circular telegram, announcing a coup d'etat against the Central Government.

General Wu Pei-fu has issued a lengthy circular telegram in which, after announcing of his departure from Paotingfu for Loyang, he says in part:

"The reason that I have stayed in Paotingfu is that I have been reorganising the Chihli troops, who were engaged in battle with the Fengtien troops.

"Now that General Li Yuan-hung has been reinstated in the Presidency and the center of government settled, I am returning to Loyang to devote myself to the military drill of my troops.

"I have no intention whatever of concerning myself in national affairs, but whenever any responsible person asks questions of me as to my views towards the situation, I am always ready to give my answers without reserve."

Constitution To Be First Job Of M. P.'s

(Reuter's Pacific Service)

Peking, July 2.—A mandate points out that local self-government is one of the fundamental factors of the Constitutional Government. Since the Constitution was started, many unfavorable events have interfered with its completion but Parliament has reassembled and will soon begin the task of completing the Constitution, by which the authority of the Central and Provincial Governments will be clearly defined. As soon as Parliament has finished the Constitution, the Central Government will put its provisions into effect.

Germany's Trade With Japan Now More Than In 1914

(Reuter's Pacific Service)

Tokio, June 29.—Japan's import trade with Germany, according to official returns just issued, during the past year amounted to Y.83,000,000 or Y.23,000,000 more than the average annual import prior to the war.

Experts calculate that the total imports from Germany in the current year may reach Y.100,000,000. German imports prior to the war were 9.3 percent of the total of the Empire's imports and were 0.0001 percent in 1919 when peace was restored. In 1920 the percentage grew to 5 percent and in the current year to 5.12 percent.

U. S. Agriculture Expert Coming Here

(China Press Correspondence)

Nanking, July 2.—Dr. C. A. Reed, Nut Culturist of the United States Department of Agriculture will arrive in China sometime this month for the purpose of investigating the walnut industry of China. He will make his headquarters at the College of Agriculture and Forestry, University of Nanking, and from there make trips into the walnut districts.

In order to make Dr. Reed's visit a profitable one, the College of Agriculture and Forestry is very anxious to get in touch with persons living in districts growing walnuts, either in orchards or as individual trees so that an itinerary may be planned.

When writing to the College, as much information as possible should be given regarding the extent of the industry, quality of nuts grown and any other information which would help in deciding on the advisability of visiting the region.

Cotton Interests May Be Assessed

(Reuter's Service)

London, July 1.—The cotton revival has induced some British cotton interests to seek Parliamentary power to impose a compulsory levy of £50,000 annually on the trade for the extension of cotton-growing in the Empire. A Bill to this effect will shortly be introduced in the House of Commons as the outcome of a report by the Government Committee of Inquiry to the British Cotton-Growers' Association.

China's Rail Debts Are To Be Audited

(Reuter's Pacific Service)

Peking, July 2.—With a view to ascertaining the Ministry's obligations, Mr. Kao Eng-hung has ordered a special commission to examine and audit all the Chiaotungpu's accounts, compile lists of foreign and domestic liabilities and, after that, to consider the best means of payment.

Japanese Want Rail Board To Pay

(Independent News Service)

Hankow, June 28.—The Japanese Asiatic Development Corporation, the financiers of the Kiukiang-Nanchang Railway, has informed the railway management of an obligation of $243,000 which falls due by the end of this month as interest for the railway loan advanced by the Japanese company. In view of the demand of the Japanese debtors, the Railway directors have requested the Kiangsi Provincial Bureau of Industries at Nanchang to hand over the proceeds and cash deposit of the railway amounting to about $90,000, so that they may meet part of the obligation.

But during previous financial crises in Kiangsi Province, former governors of Nanchang have misappropriated almost half of the deposit of this railway for military expenditures, and thus they are embarrassed over the demand of the Japanese. The railway, through strenuous efforts to prevent it from falling into Japanese hands by the Chinese, now remains a Chinese-Japanese concern though the latter have a predominating voice in directing its affairs.

Hupeh Objects To Peking's Nominee

(Independent News Service)

Hankow, June 28.—The nomination of Admiral Tang Hsiang-ming by Peking to the post of Civil Governor of Hupeh has given rise to a serious contention among minor factions of Hupeh politicians here as well as in Peking. The present incumbent Mr. Liu Tsen-en has been compelled to resign, but his party is conducting a vigorous campaign to prevent his career from being wrecked by a new nominee.

The mandate appointing Admiral Tang to the post is said to have been presented for Cabinet endorsement at Peking several times, but friction caused by rival factions has discouraged the Cabinet from signing.

400,000 Railroad Shopmen Quit In U.S.; Trains Running

(Reuter's Service)

New York, July 2.—It is estimated that ninety percent of the 400,000 railway shopmen have responded to the order to strike but the train services are still unaffected owing to the non-participation of the trainmen. The shopmen's posts have been declared vacant and willing workers are promised protection.

Chicago, July 1.—Thousands of railway shop-men are responding to the call for a nation-wide strike, issued by the presidents of the six shop-craft unions. The mechanics from the New England Railroads to the Western Trans-Continental lines are generally joining in.

It is estimated that 50,000 men have already left work. The engineers and trainmen are not affected and the trains are running normally.

The Clock That Serves The World

THE clock shown in this photograph is in the famous catacombs of Paris, where the temperature varies only one-tenth of a degree during the year. Inasmuch as temperature changes affect all timepieces the clock was installed in its gruesome surroundings. This clock varies only three-ten-thousandths of a second a year, and it's time is given to all parts of the world daily from the radio station on Eifel Tower.

U. S. Sends 121 Food Ships To Russia

(Reuter's Service)

London, July 2.—The American Relief Administration state that, since February 2, 121 ships have left America for Russia with famine relief supplies bought with the Congressional appropriation of $20,000,000 and $12,000,000 of Soviet gold. These shipments have now ended, but the importation of American foodstuffs into Russia will continue, for the Congressional appropriation is only a part of the Relief Administration's charitable resources.

Several million dollars' worth of food is still to come. All supplies are now being evacuated rapidly from the Russian ports as the railways are no longer burdened with heavy seed shipments and the opening of the rivers has also considerably facilitated inland transportation.

The Loan To Germany

(New York Times)

THE general and somewhat unexpected hopefulness regarding the bankers' conference over a German loan has three likely explanations. First, the discussion began with this economic problem stripped of political controversy. Further, the course of events had proved that its solution on new and different lines could in the interest of all concerned no longer be postponed. Finally, the foreign loan expedient had from the very beginning been recognised by clear-thinking statesmen and financiers as the only logical way out. This being so, it has also occasionally been asked why the project was not seriously considered long ago. The answer is that not until the recent great change in the world's investment markets, due to release of tied-up capital from its unlucky undertakings of the immediate aftermath of war, was it possible to consider an operation of this kind and magnitude. But it has equally been true that Germany shrank from proposing and the foreign banking community from considering such a loan, so long as the ultimate requirements from Germany in reparations were not defined.

That a foreign loan would sooner or later be imperative to carry out the program all experience had proved, and experience had also proved its feasibility. Payment of the 5,000,000,000 francs war indemnity by France to Prussia after 1871 was the notable case in point. That greater part of that indemnity (which was as inconceivably large in that day as the amount assessed against Germany is today) was raised from the proceeds of a 4,000,000,000 francs French Government 5 percent loan, sold at something like 85—a very low price for that day. Even the financial community of 1871 and 1872 was skeptical over the possibility of floating any loan of such unheard-of magnitude, especially when one-third of it was to be placed outside of France. But the astonishing result was that French investors applied for 17,765,000,000 francs' worth of the new bonds, and foreign markets for 26,000,000,000. In the ultimate allotment to foreign subscribers twelve different nations figured on the list, and by far the largest subscriber of any foreign country to this loan of defeated France was Prussia, who had defeated her.

The historical analogy will not in all respects hold good. Not only was the situation of that day one in which the rest of the world outside of France and Germany had not been at war at all, but the French Government had pursued after the war a wholly different course from the Germany of today. So long as the indemnity clauses of the treaty were under discussion, French statesmen had objected, and protested. When, however, the diplomatic controversy was perforce ended and the treaty signed, the French Government went promptly to work, with the loyal co-operation of the French banking and investment community, to finance the seemingly crushing burden.

The currency, which had partly depreciated in the war, was quickly brought back to par. French exports of merchandise rose to previously unimagined volume. Foreign investments of French capitalists were exchanged for Government obligations and used to accumulate foreign balances, and in three years the enormous bill was paid and the Prussian Army of Occupation withdrawn from France.

Partly because of the much more complicated economic situation, but largely also because of thoroughly unsound governmental finance, Germany confronts the similar problem in a far less favorable position. Her currency has taken long steps on the road followed by Russia; her business community has repeatedly blocked even the practicable proposals of the Government. Distrust, sometimes of German capacity to pay and sometimes of German good faith, has been an inevitable consequence. This is why the specific pledge of tangible assets or revenue has been accepted everywhere as the first prerequisite to any plan for a large foreign loan. The crux of negotiation will probably come (supposing the first lien on German resources for direct reparations payments to be released) in the stipulation as to how and by whom the revenue pledged shall be administered.

So far as can be seen today, a loan could be floated at a high but not utterly exorbitant rate, provided the pledge of security is ample, and there is no doubt that the security is obtainable. The total sum at which the loan is hypothetically placed in some of the dispatches is probably out of the question, always supposing that this amount refers to the sum which foreign markets must provide. But the loan will none the less have to be for an enormous sum, and it would necessarily come on the market only by instalments as the separate reparations payments should fall due. It would hardly succeed unless the ultimate total of those payments were to be finally determined. With these provisos and with rational political co-operation, the way is unquestionably open for the placing of such a loan on the American, English and other foreign markets.

Barrie's Other Self

Author Reveals Fanciful, Unruly McConnachie—"His Writing Half"—Stirring Message To Youth In St. Andrews' Address

The address of Sir James Barrie on his installation as rector of the University of St. Andrews, Scotland, has been termed by The London Times a "rectorial address the like of which can never before have been heard by any body of students." "Courage" was the subject. He revealed that McConnachie, whom he called his other self, really wrote the plays and not the Sir James Barrie known to all. This McConnachie—his "writing half"—he represented as an odd sort of person who was likely to do almost anything, and himself as a serious-minded man bent upon bowing to the conventions. Lord Haig was installed as Chancellor at the same time.

That part of Barrie's address which contains the whimsically delightful revelation of McConnachie and in which also is unfolded the inspiring note of his theme—courage—is embraced in the following:

"No one could be more conscious of the honor you have done me," he said. "You have had many rectors here who will shine on after the likes of myself are dead and rotten and forgotten. They are the roses in December. You remember that some one said that God gave us memory so that we might have roses in December. But I don't envy the great ones. In my experience, and you may find in the end it is yours also, the people I have cared for most and who have seemed most worth caring for—my December roses—have been very simple folk. But I wish that for this hour I could swell into some one of importance, so as to do you credit.

"My special difficulty is that though you have had literary rectors here before, they were the big guns, the historians, the philosophers; you have had none, I think, who followed my more humble branch, which may be described as playing hide-and-seek with angels. My puppets seem more real to me than myself. I could get on much more swingingly if I made one of them deliver this address. It is McConnachie who has brought me to this pass. McConnachie, I should explain, is the name I give to the unruly half of myself—the writing half. We are complement and supplement. I am the half that is dour and practical and canny, he is the fanciful half; my desire is to be the family solicitor, standing firm on my hearthrug among the harsh realities of the office furniture, while he prefers to fly around on one wing. I shouldn't mind him doing that, but he drags me with him. I have sworn that McConnachie shall not interfere with this address today. But there is no telling. I might have done things worth while if it had not been for McConnachie. My first piece of advice to you at any rate shall be sound. Don't copy me. A good subject for a rectorial address would be the mess the rector himself has made of life. I merely cast this forth as a suggestion, and leave the working of it out to my successor. I don't think it has been used yet.

"My own theme is courage, as you should use it in the great fight that seems to me to be coming between Youth and their Betters: by Youth meaning of course you, and by your Betters us. I want you to take up this position—that Youth have for too long left exclusively in our hands the decisions in national matters that are more vital to them than to us. Things about the next war, for instance, and why the last one ever had a beginning. That the time has arrived for Youth to demand a partnership. That to gain courage is what you come to St. Andrews for. With some alarms and excursions into college life. That is what I propose, but of course the issue lies with McConnachie.

"Your Betters had no share in the immediate cause of the war—we know what nation has that blot to wipe out; but for fifty years or so we heeded not the rumblings of the distant drum—I don't mean by lack of military preparations—and when war did come, we told Youth, who had to get us out of it, tall tales of what it really is and the clover beds it would lead to. We were not meaning to deceive, most of us were as honorable and as ignorant as the Youth themselves; but that does not acquit us of stupidity and jealousy, the two black spots in human nature which, more than love of money, are at the root of all evil. If you prefer to leave things as they are, we shall probably fail you again. Don't be too sure that we have learned our lesson and are not at this very moment doddering down some brimstone path.

"I am far from implying that even worse things than war may not come to a state. There are circumstances in which nothing can so well become a land, as I think this land proved when the late war did break out, and there was but one thing to do. There is a form of anaemia that is more rotting than even an unjust war. The end will indeed have come to our courage, and to us, when we are afraid in dire mischances to refer the final appeal to the arbitrament of arms. I suppose all the lusty of our race, alive and dead, join hands on that. But if you must be in the struggle, the more reason you should know why, before it begins, and have a say in the decision whether it is to begin.

"SPRING OF YEAR BURIED"

"You are already disturbing your Betters considerably. I sometimes talk this over with McConnachie, with whom, as you may guess, circumstances compel me to pass a good deal of my time. In our talks we agree that we, your Betters, constantly find you forgetting that we are your Betters. Your answer is that the war and other happenings have shown you that age is not necessarily another name for sapience—that our avoidance of frankness in life and in the arts is often but a cowardly way of shirking unpalatable truths; and that you have taken us off our pedestals because we look more natural on the ground. 'If Youth but only knew,' we used to teach you to sing; but now, just because Youth has been to the war, it wants to change the next line into 'If Age had only to do.'

"This passive attitude of distrust, however, will not help you or our country much unless it stirs you into getting to know how world-shaking situations arise, how they may be checked and in what way to obtain the fighting partner's share in the decisions. Doubt all your Betters who would deny you that right. Begin by doubting all in high places—except, of course, your professors. But doubt all other professors. If it necessitates your pushing us out of our places, still push; you will find it needs some shoving. But the things courage can do! The things that even incompetency can do if it works out singleness of purpose! Your Betters have done a big thing; we have taken Spring out of the year. And having done that our leading people are amazed to find that the other seasons are not conducting themselves as usual. The Spring of the year lies buried in the fields of France and elsewhere. By the time the next eruption comes, it may be you who are responsible for it and your sons who are in the lava. All perhaps because this year you let things slide.

"We are a nice and kindly people, but it is already evident that we are struggling back into the old grooves. We are too old for any others; that is the fundamental difference between us and you. We have no intention of giving you your share. Look around and see how much share Youth has, now that the war is

"PRICELESS"

Is a popular way of describing anything which has proved to be of exceptional value, and may therefore be employed to describe that old and favourite preparation—Beecham's Pills. The ever-increasing army of men and women who have experience of this excellent medicine generally use some such phrase as "priceless" or "Worth a guinea a box" when speaking of Beecham's Pills. This is certainly high praise. But it is well-merited. Beecham's Pills have proved, times out of number, to be a "priceless" preparation in the treatment of digestive ailments. They bring relief; they safeguard the health; they effect remarkable cures. All who suffer in any way from biliousness, sick headache, constipation, impaired appetite, and the resulting loss of energy and want of tone should take over. You got a handsome share while it lasted.

"I expect we shall beat you; unless your fortitude be doubly girded by a desire to send a message of cheer to your brothers who fell—the only message, I believe, for which they crave, they are not worrying about their Aunt Jane. They want to know if you have learned from what befell them; if you have they will be braced in the feeling that they did not die in vain. Some of them think they did. They won't take our word for it that they didn't. You are their living image; they know you could not lie to them, but they distrust our flattery and our cunning faces. . . .

"The League of Nations is a very fine thing, but it can't save you, because it will be run by us. Beware your Betters bringing presents. What is wanted is something run by yourselves. You have more in common with the youth of other lands than Youth and Age can ever have with each other; even the hostile countries sent out many a son very like ours, from the same sort of homes, the same sort of universities, with the same sort of hearts, who had as little to do as our Youth had with the origin of the Great Adventure. Can we doubt that many of these on both sides who have gone over, and were once opponents, are now friends? You ought to have a League of Youth as a great practical beginning. I sound to myself as if I were advocating a rebellion. Perhaps I may be arrested on leaving the hall. In such a cause I should think that I had at last proved myself worthy to be your rector. . . .

"There must be many men in other callings beside the arts lauded as hard workers who are merely out for enjoyment. Our Chancellor? If our Chancellor had always a passion to be a soldier, we must reconsider him as a worker. Even our principal? How about the light that burns in our principal's room after decent people have gone to bed? If we could climb up and look in—I should like to do something of that nature for the last time—should we find him engaged in honest toil or guiltily engrossed in chemicals?

"You will all fall into one of those two callings, the joyous or the uncongenial, and one wishes you into the first, though our sympathy, our esteem, must go rather to the less fortunate, the braver ones who 'turn their necessity to glorious gain' after they have put away their dreams. To the others will go the easy prize of life—success, which was become a somewhat odious onion nowadays, chiefly because we so often give the name to the wrong thing. When you reach the evening of your days you will, I think, realise—with, I hope, becoming cheerfulness—that we are all failures, at least all the best of us. The greatest Scotsman that ever lived wrote himself down a failure:

The poor inhabitant below
Was quick to learn and wise to know,
And keenly felt the friendly glow,
And softer flame.
But thoughtless follies laid him low
And stained his name.

Perhaps the saddest lines in poetry, written by a man who could make things new for the gods themselves.

"If you want to avoid being like Burns there are several possible ways. Thus you might copy us, as we shine forth in our published memoirs, practically without a flaw. No one so obscure nowadays but that he can have a book about him. Happy the land that can produce such subjects for the pen.

"But don't put your photograph at all ages into your autobiography. That is the tragic mistake. 'My Life; and What I Have Done With It.' That is the sort of title, but it is the photographs that give away what you have done with it. Grim things these portraits; if you could read the language of them, you would often find it necessary to read the book. The face itself, of course, is still more tell-tale. It is the record of all one's past life. There the man stands in the dock, page by page; we ought to be able to see each chapter of him melting into the next, like the figures in the cinematograph. Even the youngest of you has got through some chapters already. When you go home for the next vacation some one is sure to say: 'John has changed a little; I don't quite see in what way, but he has changed.' You remember they said that last vacation. Perhaps it means that you look more manly I hope it does; at any rate, try to make that its meaning next time.

"In youth, you tend to look rather frequently into a mirror, not at all necessarily from vanity. You say to yourself, 'What an interesting face; I wonder what he is to be up to?' Your Betters don't look into the mirror so often. We know what he has been up to. As yet there is unfortunately no science of reading other people's faces. I think a chair for this should be founded in St. Andrews."

The rector then held up a few sheets of paper, a last message from Captain Scott, written just before his death in the Antarctic, and said that the explorer's end was an example of courage at its best.

"Courage is the thing," he continued. "All goes if courage goes! The greatness of a people is founded on their moral principles; but what says our Johnson of courage: 'Unless a man has that virtue he has no security for preserving any other.' Be not merely courageous, but light-hearted, also gay. Some people have odd ideas of what gayety is. There is an officer who was the first of our army to land at Gallipoli. He was dropped overboard to light decoys on the shore, so as to deceive the Turks as to where the landing was to be. He pushed a raft containing those in front of him. It was a frosty night, and he was naked and painted black. Firing from the ships was going on all around. It was a two hours' swim in pitch darkness. He did it, crawled through the scrub to listen to the talk of the enemy, who were so near that he could have shaken hands with them—lit his decoys and swam back. He seems to look on this as a gay affair. He is a V. C. now, and you wouldn't think to look at him that he could ever have presented such a disreputable appearance. Would you! (Colonel Freyberg.)

"Another piece of advice—almost my last. For reasons you may guess I must give this in a low voice. Beware of McConnachie. When I look in a mirror now it is his face I see. I speak with his voice, and you all know now what a voice it is. I once had a voice of my own, but nowadays I hear it only from far away, a melancholy, lonely, lost little pipe. I wanted to be an explorer, but he willed otherwise. You will all have your McConnachie's luring you off the high road. Unless you are constantly on the watch, you will find that he has slowly pushed you out of yourself and taken your place. He has rather done for me. I think in his youth he must somehow have guessed the future and been fleggit by it—flichtered from the nest like a bird—and so our eggs were left, cold. He has clung to me, less from mischief than for companionship. I half like him and his penny whistles. With all his faults he is as Scotch as peat. He whispered to me just now that you elected him, not me, as your rector."

CASTORIA
for Infants and Children.
The Effects of Opiates.

THAT INFANTS are peculiarly susceptible to opium and its various preparations, all of which are narcotic, is well known. Even in the smallest doses, if continued, these opiates cause changes in the functions and growth of the cells, which are likely to become permanent, causing imbecility, mental perversion, a craving for alcohol or narcotics in later life. Nervous diseases, such as intractable nervous dyspepsia and lack of staying power, are a result of dosing with opiates or narcotics to keep children quiet in their infancy. The rule among physicians is that children should never receive opiates in the smallest doses for more than a day at a time, and only then if unavoidable.

The administration of Anodynes, Drops, Cordials, Soothing Syrups and other narcotics to children by any but a physician cannot be too strongly decried, and the druggist should not be a party to it. Children who are ill need the attention of a physician, and it is nothing less than a crime to dose them wilfully with narcotics. Castoria contains no narcotics if it bears the signature of Chas. H. Fletcher.

The signature of Chas. H. Fletcher guarantees genuine Castoria

Physicians Recommend Castoria.

"Your preparation known as Castoria I have used for years in children's complaints and I have found nothing better."
JOHN J. LAPPA, M. D., Cleveland, Ohio.

"I have prescribed your Castoria in my household with good results, and have advised several patients to use it for its mild, harmless effect and freedom from harm."
EDWARD PARRISH, M. D., Brooklyn, N. Y.

"For several years I recommended your Castoria and shall always continue to do so as it has invariably produced beneficial results."
EDWIN F. PARDEE, M. D., New York City.

"Your Castoria is a meritorious household remedy. It is purely vegetable and acts as a mild cathartic. Above all, it does no harm, which is more than can be said of the great majority of children's remedies."
VICTOR H. COFFMAN, M. D., Omaha, Neb.

"Your Castoria holds the esteem of the medical profession to a measure held by no other proprietary preparation. It is a safe and reliable medicine for infants and children, in fact it is the universal household remedy for infantile ailments."
J. A. PARRISH, M. D., Kansas City, Mo.

Chihli Troops Get Out Of Yochow

(Independent News Service)

Hankow, June 28.—Detachments of Chihli, Shantung and Honan troops under General Wu Pei-fu and garrisoned at Yochow are following the call of President Li Yuan-hung to evacuate so as to accelerate the reunification between north and south China.

But present developments in Hunan indicate that the step, instead of appeasing anti-north Hunanese, may even precipitate fresh chaos in Hunan, where undermining influences are seeking to oust General Chao Heng-ti from Changsha because of his pro-north attitude.

Instead of withdrawing at once, these northern garrisons are lingering at Hunan's door and are only moving back a little distance from Yochow. They are now being stationed along the Canton-Hankow Railway between Wuchang and Changsha.

Mission Workers In Kiangsi Missing

(China Press Correspondence)

Nanchang, July 1.—William Taylor, head of the Kiangsi China Inland Mission now visiting in Nanchang stated today that though every effort had been made to establish communications with their missionaries in the affected areas they had as yet been unable to do so, but in the absence of any rumors of violence being done to foreign property they were not unduly concerned.

Mail is coming through from Kianfu, in fact from as far south as Wanan, but travel to Kian is almost impossible and several who have tried to get through have returned. Mail from Kanchow is going by way of Canton.

JAPANESE LEAVE

Canton Leaders Give Terms For Quitting Kiangsi

(Independent News Service)

Hankow, June 28.—Conditions in Kiangsi do not fully warrant too much optimism, though military operations have ceased for the last fortnight or so. When admonished by Tuchun Hsiao Yao-nan of Wuchang, General Li Lieh-chun, leader of the northern expedition, made the following statements:

"Our expedition was initiated at the request of Kiangsi people, for whose welfare we are working and fighting. Our aim is to secure complete autonomy in Kiangsi, and have Kiangsi governed by Kiangsi-ites. As soon as northern forces evacuate Kiangsi, I can guarantee the withdrawal of southern troops in Kiangsi. The administration of the Kiangsi government will then be left to the best decision of Kiangsi people."

General Li Lieh-chun has presented the following four demands in response to the request of General Tsai Chen-hsun and public organisations in Nanchang to halt hostilities:

(1) The Southern expeditionary forces will evacuate Kanhsien and simultaneously General Tsai's northern troops should evacuate Nanchang;

(2) To enforce practical autonomy in Kiangsi, the Civil Governor should be elected by the Kiangsi people;

(3) The military affairs of Kiangsi shall be managed by an experienced Kiangsi leader to be elected by popular vote;

(4) Upon the conclusion of peace negotiations, the disbandment of troops should be left to the Kiangsi people and northern militarists must not hesitate but evacuate Kiangsi.

SOVIETS PUT IN STAGGERING BID AT THE HAGUE

All They Want Is Three Billion Gold Roubles

(Reuter's Service)

The Hague, July 1.—The non-Russian delegates to the conference were staggered at the figures quoted by M. Litvinoff, when he submitted to the Credits Commission his plan for the reconstruction of Russia, which involves a total of 3,224,000,000 Gold Roubles, the equivalent approximately of £341,000,000, including 1,050,000,000 Gold Roubles for water and railway transport and harbors, 924,000,000 Gold Roubles for agriculture, 750,000,000 Gold Roubles for industries, chiefly textiles, timber and metal, and 500,000,000 for banking and commercial credits, the total to be spread over three years.

Replying to expressions of astonishment at the enormous figures, M. Litvinoff said that Russia's pre-war fortune was 150,000,000,000 Gold Roubles and the war and Allied intervention took five-twelfths of this. He declared that it was impossible to reconstruct Russia piecemeal. The original estimates had been tremendously reduced and only represented a percentage of the total which Russia had expended.

M. Sokolnikoff said that the commercial credits were needed to enable the co-operative societies to supply the peasants with the means to bring grain to the towns and the banking credits were needed to support a new issue of notes by the Russian State Bank. He concluded that, if Russia were not restored, no creditor could hope to see much of his money back.

When the disturbance caused by M. Sokolnikoff's remark had subsided, M. Litvinoff promised further details of the demands and to present a list of the concessions the Soviet was willing to grant. He submitted a questionnaire asking for information as to the actual bondholders and their claims, etcetera.

The Russian delegation subsequently announced that M. Litvinoff's figures were the irreducible minimum.

The consensus of opinion of experts is that the Russians cannot suppose that enough money can be procured to enable reconstruction to be completed in a few years. They consider that the Russians have not the smallest chance of obtaining their total demands and the grant of smaller credits will depend on the confidence the Soviets can inspire in financiers.

It is believed that the Conference will last three months.
